

Openings: Andrew Schoultz & Richard Colman – “To Be Announced” @ V1 Gallery

Posted on March 26, 2012 by sleepboy

Several days ago, the V1 Gallery in Copenhagen played host to two talented artists from the US, Andrew Schoultz and Richard Colman, finally fulfilling their longstanding wish to exhibit together in a joint show. To Be Announced presents bodies of work where both San Francisco-based artists venture into new territory together with experimentations in fresh artistic styles (for some of their pieces). Schoultz continues his exploration of the imagery of the American flag, spurred by his discovery when purchasing this symbol of his home country, that the flags were ironically produced in China. Colman has produced some new works utilizing grip tape as a medium, inspired by his experiences as an avid skater in the past.

