

Showing: Kenichi Yokono – “The New Suburbs” @ Mark Moore Gallery

Posted by sleepboy, July 9, 2014

Currently at the Mark Moore Gallery in Los Angeles, Japanese artist Kenichi Yokono has a show on view entitled The New Suburbs. The new collection of painted wood carvings are a continuation of what he presented with the same gallery back in 2011 (covered), and are fine examples of Yokono's modern take on traditional woodcutting. Sourcing the grotesque and mundane from his native country's culture, the intricate pieces deal with "notions of globalization and consumerism with the overwhelming cuteness (or kawaii) found in popular Japanese consumer culture."
